the open access publication of this book has been published with the support of the swiss national science foundation with little warning covid 19 quickly escalated into a generational crisis creating sustained havoc seen perhaps only in past cases of war attack and natural disasters in the bedlam of the early months health science political and economic communities were hit with sudden force required to quickly shift and rearrange the normal order of work in arbitration leaders took imperfect information to make dramatic decisions in process and procedure arbitral institutions arbitrators legal counsel and clients were swept into this turmoil in some cases bold initiatives still in design and testing were quickly put into service upsetting norms and traditions and the very notions of traditional process the impact of covid on international disputes includes contributions from legal practitioners and academics takes a fresh look at issues addressed in international arbitration during the covid 19 pandemic gathering best practices additional perspective and predictions based on current practices that will help parties legal counsel and arbitrators in the future this book charts the difficulties encountered by vulnerable consumers in their access to justice through the contributions of prominent authors academic practitioners and consultants in the field of consumer law and access to justice it demonstrates that despite the development of adr access to justice is still severely lacking for the vulnerable consumer the book highlights that a broad understanding of access to justice which encompasses good regulation and its public enforcement is an essential ingredient alongside access to the mechanisms of traditional private justice courts and adr to protect the vulnerable consumer indeed many of the difficulties are linked to normative obstacles and lack of access to justice is primarily a vulnerability in itself that can exacerbate existing ones in addition because it may contribute to pushing already vulnerable consumers into social exclusion it is not simply about economic justice but also about social justice the book shows that lack of access to justice is not irreversible nor is it necessarily linked to consumer apathy new technologies could provide solutions the book concludes with a plea for developing inclusive justice systems with more emphasis on public enforcement alongside effective courts systems to offer the vulnerable with adequate means to defend themselves this book will be suitable for both students and practitioners and all those with an interest in the justice system
